A hard working individual with excellent communication skills and an ability to work as part of a busy team developed in my role as a catering assistant. Working part time helped to improve my confidence and customer service skills. Working as a personal assistant has taught me the importance of meeting deadlines, being punctual and provided an insight into how business organisations operate to be successful. Reliable, trustworthy and positive seeking a part time job in a retail sales position to use my people skills to meet the customer's needs and expectations. I have always had an interest in cyber security and would like to pursue this when as a future career. I am a keen problem solver and I can demonstrate this via being able to solve issues with software and hardware diagnosis and protecting computer systems. Where I whereas I have been able to put my literate IT knowledge and customer service experience to effect. I have had my DBS records run through as therefore it is available at request
