Hello Alister,

Thanks for your quick response to James' email, I look forward to meeting you. I was hoping you might be available for an online introductory meeting where I can understand where you are with your data protection and we can work out a plan for the year ahead? Subject: DPE change of consultant

Dear Alister, Sue,

Welcome back - I hope that you've had an enjoyable summer!

I'm writing to let you know that we've appointed a new school consultant, Tammy Buchanan to cover the South East and she will be looking after you from this point, whilst I spend more time on core-DPO functions and general business operations.

Tammy brings years of experience managing information technology for primary schools and a multi-academy trust and is a huge asset to Data Protection Education. She is cc'd in this email and will be in touch to arrange our programme for the year ahead shortly. If we have an existing appointment booked for this term, that appointment will still be valid.

If you have any questions, please do contact me or email at the usual address: dpo@dataprotection.education

Kind regards,

James
