Hi Lora,

Thank you for your email - although there was no attachment?

In the case of children you just need to make sure that the privacy notice is in a format that they can access and makes sense to them, i.e. they can understand it. It is not age related and as such they have the same rights as adults, it's just that they either may not be aware or understand the risks with processing their data, so this information needs to be available/explained to them. We provide a child friendly privacy notice here:

<https://dataprotection.education/site-updates/181-child-friendly-privacy-notice>

Further guidance from the ICO can be found here:

<https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/uk-gdpr-guidance-and-resources/childrens-information/children-and-the-uk-gdpr/how-does-the-right-to-be-informed-apply-to-children/>

As discussed in our meeting recently we would recommend separating out the privacy notices as:

documentDPE Model Data Privacy Notice Pupils \(236 KB\)

documentDPE Model Data Privacy Notice Workforce \(233 KB\)

documentDPE Model Data Privacy Notice General \(371 KB\)

The reason for that is the data for these three types of data subjects is likely to be handled and processed differently and different systems are likely to be used.

This government document also specifies the three different data subject types:

https://assets.publishing.service.gov.uk/government/uploads/system/uploads/attachment_data/file/1163550/Explanation_of_privacy_notices_2023_v1-5.pdf

I hope that helps,

Many thanks,
Tammy

Hello Tammy,

Please see attached the list with systems that we can think of.

Just a quick question :

As we will be going up to 11+ next year we would like to know if we need to inform our children how their data is stored, used etc. At what age the children should be aware of what is happening with their information.

We are quite happy with our Privacy notice which is on our website so can we use it for the staff as well or we do not need a separate one?

Thank you so much for your help.

Kind Regards,

Lora Binh
